The Sunday List of Dreams

by

Kris Radish

Narrated by

Christina Moore

Kris Radish, author of the critically acclaimed novel The Elegant Gathering of White Snows, burst onto best-seller and Book Sense 76 Selection lists with tales of friendship and female empowerment. In The Sunday List of Dreams, Radish pens the uplifting story of a woman who finds that renewing her relationship with her daughter proves the greatest adventure of them all.

As Connie Nixon fine-tunes her “list of dreams,” she imagines a new life for herself and pictures a Connie who stops setting her alarm clock and who drinks wine before noon. Making a list, however, proves much easier than actually acting on her desires. But then she makes a shocking discovery: Her youngest daughter Jessica, now living in New York City, is part owner of a wildly successful sex toy shop. Startled by this new knowledge, Connie sets out to reconnect with Jessica—and finds herself living the life she’s always dreamed about.

Finn

by

Jon Clinch

Narrated by

Ed Sala

Author Jon Clinch makes his debut with this extraordinary novel that tackles issues of race, slavery, and paternity while delivering a fully fleshed rendering of one of the most reviled characters in the history of American literature—Huckleberry Finn's father.

It was more than a century ago that Mark Twain left the notoriously violent Finn dead, surrounded by such oddities as a wooden leg and women's undergarments. But just exactly how did Finn end up in that room? Clinch takes us on a journey through the mysterious life of an extremely brutal and unusual person. As we get to know this troubled man, we meet the people who shape Finn's life: his own frightening father the Judge, his sickly brother Will, the hermit Bliss, and his lover Mary—a former slave.

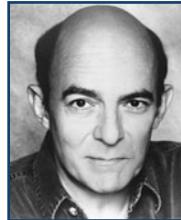

Expanding on one of the great American novels, Finn is a strikingly original tale that promises to be a classic in its own right and announces Jon Clinch as a major new talent.

About the Author

In February of that year the leaders of these two great nations sat down for talks for the first time since 1949. by

Ayaan Hirsi Ali

Narrated by the author

This New York Times best-seller is the astonishing life story of award-winning humanitarian Ayaan Hirsi Ali, a deeply respected advocate for free speech and women's rights. In this memoir, she describes her traditional Muslim upbringing and her evolution as a person, thinker, and freedom fighter.

Hirsi Ali survived civil war, mutilation, and brutal physical abuse before escaping an arranged marriage and seeking asylum in the Netherlands. There, she earned a political science degree before joining parliament and leading the fight for Islamic reform. In 2004 she became international news when Theo Van Gogh, her partner on the controversial film Submission, was assassinated by a Muslim terrorist. Now Hirsi Ali—whose outspoken criticism of Islam has never wavered—lives under armed protection, but continues her fight.

Reading her own words, Hirsi Ali commands our attention with a powerful book that, in a world of growing religious extremism, is utterly timely and badly needed.

Dog Days

Dispatches from Bedlam Farm

by Jon Katz

Narrator to be determined

Best-selling author Jon Katz, often called the heir to James Herriot, has earned a devoted following for his heartwarming tales of the dogs in his life, including A Dog Year, The Dogs of Bedlam Farm, and A Good Dog. Katz's story continues in Dog Days, as the former New Jersey dog owner adjusts to life on his rural New York farm.

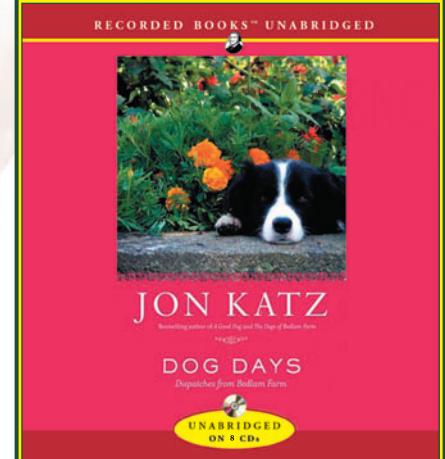

Living with four dogs is one thing. But what happens when you add a couple cows, four donkeys, a growing flock of sheep, a few hens, a temperamental rooster, and even Mother (a barn cat) to the mix? The results are unpredictable, and as Katz learns, often pleasantly surprising. As he adjusts to the daily grind of life on a farm, Katz learns that all animals have something to teach us—and they occasionally bring out our very best.

Throw in plenty of bugs, mud, and manure, and it's obvious Katz isn't exactly living the typical American dream. But it's also perfectly clear that he's happy and wouldn't have it any other way.

- Considered the heir to James Herriot
- Same market as for Marley & Me
- Each of his prior books—A Dog Year, The New Work of Dogs, The Dogs of Bedlam Farm, and Katz on Dogs sold over 40,000 in hardcover and 50,000 in paperback

by

Diana Gabaldon

Narrated by

Jeff Woodman

New York Times best-selling author Diana Gabaldon has earned a massive and devoted following for her Outlander series. In Lord John and the Private Matter, she gave a starring role to one of her most popular Outlander characters. Now Lord John's fascinating story continues.

It is 1758, and the flames of the Seven Years' War are burning hotter than ever. The rigors and dangers of battle are actually a welcome respite for Lord John and his brother Hal, who feel the constant strain of their family's troubled history. Seventeen years earlier, their father—the Duke of Pardloe—apparently committed suicide. His reputation as a Jacobite agent survived, souring the family name, but now evidence has surfaced that the duke was murdered, and his suicide staged. Only Scotsman and Jacobite James Fraser can help Lord John discover the truth.

Blending war, family secrets, and forbidden love, Gabaldon crafts a suspenseful novel that loyal fans and newcomers alike will find irresistible.

Augustus

The Life of Rome's First Emperor

by

Anthony Everitt

Narrated by

John Curless

Historian Anthony Everitt earned widespread critical acclaim for his nationally best-selling biography of Cicero. Now with Augustus, he delivers his second spellbinding account of a Roman icon whose legacy has echoed through the ages.

Caesar Augustus has been called history's greatest emperor. It was said he found Rome made of clay and left it made of marble. With a senator for a father and Julius Caesar for a great-uncle, he ascended the ranks of Roman society with breathtaking speed. His courage in battle is still questioned, yet his political savvy was second to none. He had a lifelong rival in Mark Antony and a 51-year companion in his wife Livia. And his influence extended perhaps further than that of any ruler who has ever lived.

Drawing on the available information—while making a handful of his own groundbreaking assertions—Everitt brings the real Augustus to vivid life in this fascinating narrative.

About the Author

Author Anthony Everitt is a visiting professor in the visual and performing arts at Nottingham Trent University and has served as secretary general of the Arts Council for Great Britain. His writings have been featured in Guardian and Financial Times. Cicero, his biography of the legendary Roman politician, was a New York Times best-seller. He lives near Colchester, an English town founded by Rome.

About the Narrator

Narrator John Curless has numerous US and UK theater and television credits. On Broadway these include The Sound of Music, The King and I, A Small Family Business, and Racing Demon. Television credits include Ed, NYPD Blue, and BBC productions of Richard III and A Winter's Tale. His book recordings include histories, fiction, and children's stories.

The Glass Castle

by Jeannette Walls

Narrated by Julia Gibson

This extraordinary memoir from Jeannette Walls is a stirring and distinctive story that has won tremendous critical acclaim. In a starred review, Publishers Weekly applauded the author's "fantastic storytelling knack," saying, "Walls doesn't pull her punches ... in this excellent, unusual book."

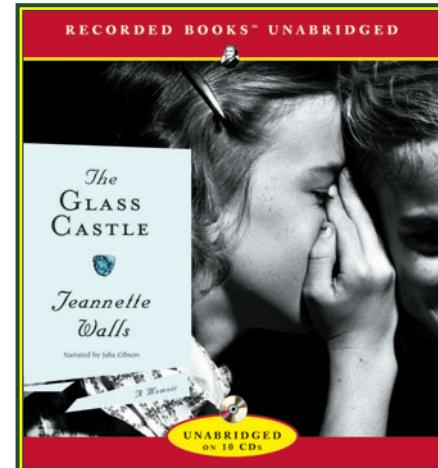

The author's father was a charismatic but alcoholic man who greatly preferred poker to gainful employment and wasn't above stealing the family grocery money to purchase liquor. His wife could barely be bothered to raise her children. So Walls and her siblings had to fend for themselves, providing their own food, shelter and clothing—even if it meant picking through Dumpsters.

Remarkable for its lack of both sentimentality and anger, The Glass Castle is a striking testament to the power of human determination. It will long resonate in the minds of all who read it.

- New York Times best-seller
